AGREEMENT EXPECTED TO BE SIGNED TODAY

The meeting of Communist and Allied Liaison Officers yesterday was expected to bring the formal signing of an agreement to start the trade of sick and wounded personnel within ten days.

The Reds cleared the way late yesterday for the signing when they answered a handful of minor technical questions asked by the UN command.

Early yesterday, almost complete agreement had been reached at Panmunjon on a nine point exchange plan submitted by Admiral John Daniel, Allied Liaison Chief. Admiral Daniel said afterward he felt "it was quite possible" that the formal agreement could be signed today when the Liaison Officers meet at 11 a.m.

Meanwhile in Korea, American Marines killed or wounded more than 220 Chinese Red troops yesterday in recapturing "Garson" Hill five hours after savage Communist assaults grabbed it from them.

It brought to an estimated 600, the number of Reds killed or wounded in 48 hours of scattered but vicious combat along the Korean front.

Elsewhere along the front, only a handful of fights took place, all but one of them patrol contacts.

Transport officials yesterday announced a toll of nine persons killed and 50 injured in yesterday's shattering crash of crowded subway trains in London.

The West European nations will meet with Russia and her satellites in Geneva next week to examine prospects for developing a West-West trade agreement.

APO OFFERS NEW MESSAGE SERVICE

APO 7-1, the 17th Infantry "Buffalo" Regiment Post Office branch located in Service Company, is announcing the beginning of a new service to start on Monday. This is the sending of "E.F.M. N. Expeditionary Force Messages.

The E.F.M. is a sort of telegraph-by-mail. The way it works is this. The sender is given a list of about 350 phrases and words to choose from. He selects any three of the group. Each phrase has a number, and the three numbers are sent through to destination, decoded and delivered. There are nine categories of phrases, ranging from correspondence and Health to Congratulations. Messages may be made up of units from any category. For instance, a typical E.F.M. might read, "All my love, Very happy in receipt good news, Have sent money", or, "Darling, Please send me $100, Writing in detail."

These messages may be sent anywhere in the United States or Puerto Rico for sixty cents, and the list of possible phrases will be in the Mail Room of each unit. Mail clerks will send the messages and receive payment. A message will arrive in four days, considerably less than regular mail service.

Although this system is not new, the "Buffalo" Regiment will be one of the first to offer this service on a regular basis. Complete information is available in all Mail Rooms, starting Monday.

Cpl. Fred Krauer, in charge of the E.F.M. service, states that, "The message carries the authority of a telegram, and will be of particular value in Mother's day, Birthday, and congratulation messages."

The BUFFALO BUGLE is an authorized publication of the 17th Infantry Regiment, APO 7, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco, California. It is published daily in Korea by the TIAE and PIO section for the personnel of the regiment. Views and opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. AFPS source material is used and may not be reprinted by civilian newspapers.
