REDS CRACK ROK MLR

Three thousand Chinese Reds penetrated South Korean defenses on the east-central front yesterday while other South Korean soldiers knocked back most of a 10,000 man Red division attacking on the western front.

The assault, totaling about 13,000 Communists on these two fronts, opened the fourth year of the Korean War.

A regiment of Chinese Reds fought their way into South Korean front line positions on the east-central front in the same area where about 30,000 Reds pushed back the ROK line a fortnight ago.

The Communist again left American and other foreign units virtually untouched during the night. They concentrated on the ROKs.

The Far East Air Forces have issued a summary on air losses, for both sides for the whole war.

Since the Red invasion of South Korea, 950 Communist planes have been destroyed. In the same period, the Allies have lost 973.

The Communist losses include 779 jet planes destroyed in air fighting. The Allied losses include 108 planes of all types lost in air fighting.

BUFFALO STARS IN PARAMOUNT 3-D

The Paramount 3-D moving picture on the 7th Division, which is now being filmed, is causing a great deal of comment in the 17th Infantry "Buffalo" Regiment. One of the "stars" is Captain Roy Thompson, Jr., who was Company Commander of Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the 17th before he started work on the picture.

In the picture, Captain Thompson is the platoon leader of the unit which is the focal point of the plot. According to the tall, mustached Buffalo, the film itself is, "representative of the spirit and mood of this war." He goes on to say, "it portrays the action and the feelings of the men on the front."

In addition to his role as an actor, Captain Thompson is also involved in the technical direction of the production, in the matter of settings and equipment used by the cast. He concludes enthusiastically, "everyone working on the film is excited by the story and the whole new 3-D idea."
